Candice Simeoni addressed the committee about her work with elder abuse and how she works with the police department and the courts. She talked about making the public informed about elder abuse and how to address it when necessary. She also told us about publicity we can use to get out the word about this problem.

Anna Guest next addressed the committee about her work at The Southern Maine Agency on Aging concerning falls prevention. She told us about programs of exercise which can be used to ease the risks of falling. We also discussed the possibility of helping the Parks and Recreation Department work with SMAAA to start new programs like the ones that are already in place in many communities in Maine.

There followed a lengthy discussion with Chris Osterrieder about housing and transportation.

Respectfully submitted,

Bevan Davies
